

Why become a member of the Atlantic Canada Clinical Engineering Society?

ACCES is, at its core, a growing number of Clinical Engineering professionals just like you, who believe.

They believe in the importance of continuing education, networking with peers, working to achieve a higher standard, developing themselves, and elevating their chosen profession. If these key elements make sense to you then perhaps you should be a member of the only organization of its type in Atlantic Canada.

ACCES is about the power of volunteers mobilized to do the hard work, to put in the hours, and to make that all-important extra effort to realize our mission. The outcome is clear for all to see: a growing membership base; a world-class series of free educational sessions; and an annual Educational Seminar & Trade Expo that is unsurpassed in this country.
